Department Website (https://www.uwec.edu/academics/college-education-human-sciences/departments-programs/teacher-education-program/departments/special-education/)

The special education programs in the Department of Special Education and Inclusive Practices are designed to provide students with experiences that develop skills in assessing students as well as planning, implementing, and evaluating interventions. Special education graduates are prepared for a variety of specialized jobs. Those who prefer to teach may be employed in public or private schools, institutions, or agencies. Those seeking other careers may work as house parents or home trainers or directors of service agencies. Some graduates will continue their study in other areas of special education, while others may engage in research, develop curricular and instructional materials, or lead in-service teacher training.

The Department of Special Education and Inclusive Practices offers graduate-level course work but no graduate degree programs.

Certificates

- Certificate: Director of Special Education & Pupil Services (http://catalog.uwec.edu/graduate/programs/special-education-inclusive-practices/director-of-special-education-pupil-services-certificate/)

All 500- and 600-level graduate courses include requirements or assignments which differentiate them from 300- and 400-level undergraduate courses. Students who have taken a course at the 300- or 400-level may not include that course at the 500- or 600-level in a graduate program, except in the case of special topics courses when the topic is not the same as that taken at the undergraduate level. Course restrictions listed are based on the undergraduate course. Questions regarding course restrictions for graduate students should be directed to the appropriate department office.
