The special education program in the Department of Special Education and Inclusive Practices is designed to provide students with experiences that develop skills in assessing students as well as planning, implementing, and evaluating interventions. Special education graduates are prepared for a variety of specialized jobs. Those who prefer to teach may be employed in public or private schools, institutions, or agencies. Those seeking other careers may work as house parents or home trainers or directors of service agencies. Some graduates will continue their study in other areas of special education, while others may engage in research, develop curricular and instructional materials, or lead in-service teacher training.

The Department of Special Education and Inclusive Practices offers graduate-level course work but no graduate degree programs. The department does offer a graduate certificate for Director of Special Education and Pupil Services.
