LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES, CERTIFICATE

Liberal Arts (Code 340-601)

The Latin American Studies Certificate is intended to provide students in any field of study with the opportunity to learn more about Latin America and its peoples without requiring either knowledge of the language nor immersion time in a Latin American country. The certificate can be particularly useful for students in fields, which may bring them into contact with people of Latin American origin or descent living in the US, such as education, nursing, social work, among others. The Certificate may also interest Spanish majors and minors who have studied in Spain and don't have the ability to do an immersion in a Latin American country, but would nonetheless benefit from learning more about Latin America and Latino/Hispanic communities in the U.S., their history, and their culture, as well as heritage speakers of Spanish who might not be interested in formally pursuing the study of the Spanish language, but do want to learn more about Latin America and Latin American communities in the U.S.
